Summary: Well, my first poem, about how to defeat Voldemort. Freestyle, kinda strange...please review anyway!

The Secret To Defeat

> The Secret to Defeat
 The Secret to defeat, is simple,
> I'm told,
 Not amazing, myterious, dashing,
> or bold.
 Not a compelling spell of hurt
> and hate,
 Not a charm of luck, a chance > of fate.
> Yet the secret is out,
 and I might tell it
> or should I...
 sell it?
> say it?
 bend it in knots?
> mix it all up and then say I forgot?
> no....
 wait.....
> why should I tell?
 it's my secret, after all,
> not yours to abell!
 but since the secret
> is meant to be told,
 in your heart,
> a place it shall hold.
 now listen carefully,
> hold my hand tight,
 the answer to this secret....
> is undoubtfully right.
> What you must do,
 What you must say,
> depends on your actions,
 depends on your way.
> but it doesn't....
> require brains and strength
 slashing of knives,
> casting of spells,
 killing of lives
>
 but wait....
>
 if the riddle I'm told is, well,
> not to be told,
 then what is it?
> It's not by curse,
 nor blade of a sword,
> then how do you defeat...
 The Great Dark Lord?
 The answer, yes,
> it lies in your heart.
 You don't have to be brave.
> You don't have to be smart.
 Just like a prayer,

> sent from a dove,
 the answer of course,
> is innocent love.
